Washington.—Great Britain and the United States face a "showdown."

Do the two English speaking people really stand together, through their respective governments or is all the talk about "hands across the sea" and "peace and good will" but only a cloak for the real purpose of the peace conference which ended the 1914-18 war.

This is the first fundamental which will be settled by the conference on armaments and far eastern problems, which brings to Washington in the next fortnight the representatives of all the major powers in the most important gathering since the peace conference that ended the 1914-18 war.

To understand the many fine points of the coming conference, to read between the lines of its formal statements and diplomatically turned speeches, the average American who follows the intricacies of diplomacy will do well to bear in mind certain facts which have been developing slowly in recent months but which have been the subject of the proceedings which we are soon to witness here.

Events Force Issue
In the first place, without detracting in the least from the lofty spirit which actuated President Harding in summoning the conference of powers, it is important to disclose just how the meeting happened to be called. Events forced the issue.

Here is the inside story:
President Harding held the American people as soon as he took office that he wanted to put America's house in order first before tackling the question of foreign policy. He called the meeting to do this.

Mr. Wilson as president had given first consideration to foreign policy, had gone overseas himself to help settle it, while taxation and after-the-fact economic issues developed intense irritation at home. Mr. Harding

Los Angeles.—The towering figure at the trial of Madalynne Erbshtein, who with Arthur C. Burch is charged with the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, the lover of college days, the forsaken husband of later life who when the wires flashed to him the news that she was in desperate trouble rushed to the defense of the woman who had cast him aside.

Arthur Burch went on trial Tuesday.

Sanity Test for Burch Demanded
Los Angeles.—When the case of Arthur C. Burch, indicted jointly with Mrs. Madalynne Erbshtein for the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, was called for trial in the superior court here Tuesday, counsel for Burch presented affidavits to the court asking that Burch be examined as to his sanity.

The affidavits were made by attorneys for Burch. They declared the application for a sanity test was based on the "incoherent speech and conduct" of the defendant during the past few days.
A venire of 63, with women in the majority, was summoned Tuesday for the trial of Burch. Drawing of a jury from this number was expected to take up the greater part of the week.

Mrs. Erbshtein's trial also was set for Tuesday, but District Attorney W. H. Clegg announced Burch would be tried first.
Mrs. Erbshtein, in a statement to the press, appealed to the "citizens of Los Angeles" not to "prejudge" her. She declared she knew "of no facts or circumstances which in my opinion prove Arthur C. Burch guilty," and called on Burch to take the stand and tell the truth if he had any information or evidence which tends to show his guilt. She added:

"There is no reason why Arthur Burch and I should break fall out or testify against each other."

N. P. FOES WIN BY CLEAN MAJORITIES IN NORTH DAKOTA

ALL THREE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES ARE VICTORS.

Bank Expected to Continue as Proposed Statutes and Amendments Die.

Fargo, N. D.—Continuation of the State Bank of North Dakota, a non-partisan league fostered institution, under the independent administration chosen in Friday's recall election, was indicated in returns Tuesday, pointing to defeat of the proposed law for liquidation of the bank.
While the independent candidates for governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture and labor were successful, by majorities ranging from about 1,000 to nearly 7,000, as shown in returns compiled by a group of independent newspapers, these same returns indicated a likelihood that all proposed amendments and laws had been defeated at independent tabulation headquarters.

Seek Fate of Lays
With the outcome of Friday's recall election against state officials virtually determined, efforts were renewed Tuesday to learn the fate of the proposed constitutional amendments and initiated laws.

The measures sought to liquidate the Bank of North Dakota, a state owned institution, and to make other changes in the constitution of the industrial program. If all have been defeated, as claimed by the league state campaign headquarters, the new independent administration will have to proceed with the liquidation of the industrial program. The proposed law were sponsored by the independent and opposed by the non-partisans. Independent headquarters admitted "some of them were lost."

Nextes May Lead
With about 80 scattered precincts missing, R. Nestes, independent candidate for governor, still had a lead of more than 6,000 over his opponent, Governor L. J. Frazier. Svinbjorn, independent candidate for attorney general and J. A. Ketchin, independent candidate for commissioner of agriculture and labor, also had good leads over their respective opponents. William Leake, independent candidate for attorney general and J. N. Hagan, with about half of the precincts heard from on unofficially returns.

PROMINENT KENOSHA MAN SENT TO JAIL; CONTEMPT CHARGED
Kenosha.—Because he refused to testify in the case of the state against Julius Bloxoford, the first of the 45 Kenosha men indicted by the special grand jury, Eugene T. Berningham, prominent businessman of Kenosha, on Tuesday was cited for contempt of court and sentenced to be incarcerated in the county jail until he chooses to answer the question in court, the term not to exceed 30 days.

Bloxoford is alleged to have sold liquor to Berningham and the latter, on his constitutional right to refuse to answer any questions, after setting forth that any arrest would subject Berningham to a trivial case at the most, Judge Belcher ordered him to answer the questions.

When he refused, he was cited for contempt and sent to jail.

40 Wisconsin Brewers Seek Beer Permits
(By Associated Press.)
Milwaukee.—Applications by 40 Wisconsin cities for permission to make beer for medicinal purposes, filed with A. H. Wilkinson, collector of internal revenue, were sent to Washington Tuesday. It is expected that they will be at least five days before the rulings of the Washington authorities on the applications will be received.

In the meantime, the brewers can file bonds to insure the payment of the $5-a-barrel tax, and pay the brewers' tax of $100 a year and beer wholesalers' tax of $50 a year.
Mr. Wilkinson said he would supply the revenue stamps, which must be attached to containers of beer.

FINED FOR SPEEDING, ASKS MONEY BACK
By a vote of 8 to 5 the city council refused to remit a $10 speeding fine paid Monday by William Kirchoff in the municipal court. The members refused to establish a precedent of "going back on the neck of the court" and paying back fines.

At the request of former alderman E. L. Badger, Alderman E. E. Kelly petitioned that the fine be remitted.

"I am told that Kirchoff's arrest was but spite-work by our speed patrolman and that Kirchoff was merely pulling a car ahead when he was arrested," said Alderman Kelly. "If Kirchoff was arrested the driver ahead should have also been brought into court. The man who paid the money more than we do."

Wonder if I can get my fine remitted," remarked Mayor T. E. Walsh.

If the defendant is so poor and in need how is it he can have a car and funds to pay parking? asked Alderman J. J. Dulia. "Let him walk."
The resolution was defeated and the matter dropped.

Great Generals Are Cheered by American Legion

Kansas City, Mo.—The American Legion's national convention Tuesday officially greeted their "buddies," Foch and Pershing.
The greetings of Marshal Foch and General Pershing was the principal business of the morning. In the afternoon, the legion's big parade was scheduled, with thousands of legionnaires, members of the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans and others in the line of march.

Legion officials sandwiched some convention routine into the morning proceedings, after which the gathering proceeded to the Union Station Plaza, where the memorial Kansas City will erect in honor of its war dead, was dedicated.
An impressive program had been arranged, with Marshal Foch and General Diaz of Italy, General Jacques of Belgium, Admiral Beatty of Great Britain, General Pershing and John G. Emery, Grand Rapids, Mich., national commander of the legion, participating.

New Legislation Necessary if County Adopts Memorial Plan.

Before the county adopts legislation to establish a "Memorial Highway" for the planting of trees in memory of World War service men and women, county laws are needed to protect the proposed memorial trees.
This fact was brought out by Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore previous to the meeting of the county highway committee Tuesday for considering the 1922 road program.

Members of the committee did not permit themselves to be lulled by the fact that the county highway committee had adopted the plan to plant memorial trees other than to point out that under existing laws, the county would have no jurisdiction on right to protect memory trees.
Would Protect Trees.
Objections have been offered by farmers against memory trees being planted along their farms, claiming that the shade and roots would interfere with the growth of farm grains, and the shade tends to keep the roads wet.

The plan is that if the county did put up the trees, the land owners could go out and chop them down and be within their rights," stated the road commissioner. "They control the land abutting the road."
Legislation would be needed to protect memory trees not only from being chopped down but also from being trimmed or cut by public works departments running wires along the highways.

Propose Memorial Hall
"I would rather see a county fund taken for a memorial building in the county where it would be of a material benefit to the service men now living and deceased than to those who lost their lives with the loss of continued Emory Moore." The tree plan has its virtues, for it is more enjoyable to ride along a shaded road, as well as its objections.

The county could take a memorial fund and purchase a park and plant the trees there. "It was further suggested."

Blaine Pardon Fails; Sentence of Man Expires

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—The four month sentence of Peter Christ, in jail at Rhinelander for contempt of court, expires Tuesday and he will be given his freedom. The recent pardon granted by Governor Blaine failed to result in release of the prisoner before his jail term expired. The governor has an investigator at Rhinelander investigating the situation which grew out of refusal of Hans Rodd, sheriff at Rhinelander, to release the man after he had been advised by Judge A. H. Reid, to hold him in jail.
It is believed that he will take action against the sheriff for his attitude, in view of an executive order.

Foch and Pershing Speak to Legion

Kansas City.—To the hundred thousand visitors that packed the city Tuesday, few only of whom were in the great convention hall, the parade with the 40,000 men in the seven mile line, was the great event of the convention of the American Legion members and the response by Marshal Foch and the supreme importance. The address of the marshal was in French and translated for the audience. Others who spoke were Admiral Beatty, Gen. Diaz of the Italian army and Gen. Jacques, the Belgian commander.

Pershing in Greeting.
John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Forces, extended on behalf of the American Legion and his own native state, Missouri, a formal welcome to Marshal Foch of France, commander in chief of the allied armies.
"The most cordially greet you," said General Pershing in an address delivered before the convention of the legion at which the French commander was the guest of honor. "Not only recalling the affectionate relationship of other days, but also recognizing the patriotic unit that has grown out of those associations and the common purpose that exists to uphold more faithfully those ideals that lie at the foundation of this great republic of ours."
"At Le Marais, the American Legion is pleased to honor you by your presence here among us. We extend an equally cordial welcome to that intrepid leader of Italy's victorious armies, that crushed the military autocracy of Austria, General Diaz, and to the representatives of brave Belgian army, whose courage defied the staggering blows of German militarism, General Jacques, and to the great captain who commanded the British naval forces, whose efficiency on the seas made the land victory possible, Admiral Beatty. The people of Kansas everywhere wish the opportunity to do you homage."

Welcome to State.
"Personally, I am extremely delighted to extend to you the greetings of the American Legion, which crossed the sea to fight beside you. I am also honored to speak for my friends and neighbors here in Missouri and to welcome you to this great state, where you were born and where I lived in boyhood."
General Pershing then turned his attention to the legion and praised its magnificent record of service and its devotion to the cause of peace. He urged the legion to continue its efforts to bring into being a military force, representing the people of the world, which will be able to prevent the results of unpreparedness that you suffered. He urged that the legion bend its efforts also toward obtaining all possible relief for the unfortunate veterans of the war. He predicted that great good would result from the coming conference on armaments in Washington and that an understanding would be reached which would lessen the chances of war.

Marshal Foch Speaks to America

Kansas City.—Following is the text of Marshal Foch's address before the American Legion convention:
"Officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the great American army:
"My dear comrades of the American Legion:
"I cannot tell you how great is my satisfaction at finding myself among you, young men, who are the living embodiment of the glorious memories of three years ago, on the first of November, 1918, the day when the American Legion took up vigorously the pursuit of the defeated enemy, and did not halt until the German surrender. The American Army.
"Honor of glory for the American army, a proper culmination of its intensity as in its rapidity. One and all, you have had your share in responding in mass to the call to arms of your government, in equipping, in marching, in fighting, in conquering, as possible, you had in view only the purpose to take your place as soon as possible in the line of battle. The American Legion, in the month of March, 1918, you had in France, but it was not until the month of June that you were engaged in battle.
"Effort in instruction. In order to have the necessary number of officers and men rapidly trained, you multiplied in America as in your schools and camps, which became centers of prodigious activity.
"Equipping the Troops.
"In order to arm you and equip you, the American government worked without respite and supplied all your needs.
"Admirable effort also in transportation. You swept away every obstacle which interfered with bringing your units from the ports of embarkation to the front of battle.
"In France, you improved the ports of embarkation, created new ones, increased the traffic of the railroad system by work of all kinds, and multiplied your stores and hospitals.
"Your shipyards were organized for intensive production in such a way that when the war ended, you utilized four million of marine tonnage, instead of 84,000 available at the beginning of the war.
"And meanwhile your splendid victory, thanks to your vigilance and the military quality, protected with an efficiency to which I am happy to pay tribute here, the transportation of your troops and material.
"A prodigious effort on the part of your entire nation's intelligence, will-power and energy, and prodigious effort which has allied your associates with admiration and gratitude and contended your enemy."
"This splendid spirit of an entire nation we had again on the battlefields of France, where it was glorified in the admirable virtues of bravery and heroism."
"It was the spirit of the Second and Third American Armies, divisions which, one month later took part in the battle of the Marne and distinguished themselves in the operations around Chateau Thierry and in Belgium Wood. Again it was the spirit of the American divisions which, on the eighteenth of July, participated in the victorious counter-offensive of the Marne, and the French armies between the Aisne and the Marne and contributed in great measure to the victory."
"Finally, it was that spirit which animated all the American army when, on the twenty-fourth of July, General Pershing formed your splendid units under his own direct command."
"In St. Mihiel.
"On the twelfth of September, 1918, the first American offensive was launched from the soil of France. It disclosed the energy that St. Mihiel salient, which he had entrenched himself for nearly four years, threw him back beyond the foot of the hills of the Meuse. From the very first the American army entered into glory."

ORDINANCE PASSED

County Provides Money for Finishing School—Little Other Business.
There was hardly a spark of excitement during the council meeting in the city hall chambers Monday night. Only a routine of city business was rushed through, with but a difference of opinion, on establishing a policy of remitting court fines, by the council members spurred on by the gavel of Mayor Thomas E. Welsh.
The ordinance to raise $70,000 for the new Janesville high school was given its third reading and passed.
Reports of the board of public works ordering the payment of $22,535.84 to the independent pipe company as part payment to the McGraw construction company was approved and payment ordered.
An agreement was made for the repair of the old sewer on South Main street which runs under the McCue and Buss drug store and the J. Sutherland and Son book store with authority to City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham and the board of public works to execute the same.
Action was taken to establish a uniform policy on poor relief and local medical attention to people in need.
A report was made that the board of education needs about $32,000 to meet financial needs until tax money is available.
An informal meeting to discuss the 1924 paving program was set for next Friday night.
After two hours of work, the councilmen looked at their watches, yawned and the meeting adjourned. The councilmen, which will have charge of the arrangements, eight episodes in the history of education will be the basis of the program. The cost of the program probably will include every student of the college, as every activity with the exception of athletics will be included.

ALLEGED LIQUOR PEDDLER IS HELD

Police Glad of Landing Collins, Alleged Head of Boot-leggers.

With the arrest of Harry Collins, 120 North Jackson street, here Monday night, police believe they have taken one of the biggest steps in several months in the fight against bootlegging in Jansville. Collins is alleged to have been one of the leaders of a gang which has been peddling liquor here for some time, apparently making a fairly good living out of the business. He has been watched by the police for months.

He was arrested and taken to municipal court, late Monday afternoon, on an alleged liquor sale charge placed against him by Chief Charles Newman. He was bound over for trial in the same court Nov. 9, after Judge H. L. Marshall had given hearing to the preliminary examination. Bail was fixed at $500.

Collins was held for trial upon the story told by John Whaley, brought in arrested here Saturday night for intoxication. Whaley told the old familiar tale when arrested of having bought his liquor from "strangers" after a continued grilling by the police, gave the name of Collins. On the witness stand, Monday, Whaley admitted having bought booze from Collins upon at least one occasion, paying $3 per pint for it the first time, while the second time he said he gave a $10 bill and never received his change.

Following a dish fight in the Apollo cafe last week, Collins was charged with assault and battery. George G. Sutherland, appearing for the complaining witness, and E. J. Farnham, the defendant, trial was set for Nov. 13.

FARMER SELLS 15 ROOSTERS, BUYS SIX SHEEP, HAS $9 LEFT

McGregor, Ia.—H. Barber, a farmer living near Nashua, brought 15 roosters to the poultry house of J. W. Pierce & Sons and sold them for $15. He then bought six sheep for $15 and has $9 left.

On his way home Mr. Barber stopped at a neighbor's farm and bought a head of sheep to take home with him. He paid $1 apiece for the sheep.

It is the first time in the history of this section that a scrub turkey has been worth as much as a sheep and is given as an example of the queer marketing situation which the farmer is up against right now when a pound of butter and a dozen eggs are worth considerably more than a bushel of corn.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN TO FLEE SHERIFF

Kewanee, Ill.—Walter Moore, being brought from Racine, Wis., in custody of Sheriff Hays of Warren county, jumped from a swiftly moving train a mile east of here Monday night and has not been recaptured.

He was charged with grand larceny at Menomonee, Ill.

2,000 MEMORIAL TREES FOR RACINE

Racine.—About 2,000 trees will be planted, at a cost of more than $7,000, in memory of Racine county soldiers who served during the World war. Representatives of 24 organizations, agricultural and live stock conditions had improved greatly recently.

ROCK PRAIRIE

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Rock Prairie.—The women of the congregation of the U. P. church served a delicious chicken supper at the church parlors, Thursday night. The committee in charge of the affair were Miss R. W. Labb, chairman; Miss J. B. Hadden, George Austin, Earl Kemp, and Robert Barless. One hundred and thirty-three dollars was cleared, which will be used for church improvements and the Junior Society made ten dollars from a candy sale. Miss Jessie Meier entertained a few friends Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sutherland, Jansville, in honor of George O'Brien, who is spending some time at the Sutherlands.

Council Sidelights

Obstructions on South River street were ordered removed by the council, Monday night.

No Fire Boat?

"We have arrived at nothing practical," advised Alderman E. F. Brown in reporting what the committee investigating the need of a boat or raft to aid in fighting fires along or over the river, has learned since the last meeting. "We don't believe a boat or raft feasible."

Blank License Refused.

An amusement license was refused at Madison and was not to have been the building on South River street pending an investigation of the electrical wiring. Several council members alleged the wiring in the big building dangerous through defects. A state inspector will be called in for a report.

Charles Boutin was granted permission to erect a street banner near the local theatre.

E. H. Simpson was granted a license to excavate in the streets.

New Lights.

Electric lights were ordered on Blaine avenue and at the corner of Racine street and Northwick avenue.

Minor Improvements.

A small sanitary sewer and water connections were ordered on Washington avenue from Cherry street. A sidewalk was ordered on the telephone street between Ringold and Fremont streets.

Among the bills allowed was an item of $15 to A. H. Kauf for damages to E. S. car's radiator on the city bus. The bill was allowed for $11.75 was allowed for the city nurse. Inspection of the detailed bill showed a series of calls to a maid on the After road. Most of the vouchers were school bond coupons.

150 FROLIC LIKE "KIDS" AT LAKOTAS' GAYEST JAMBOREE

One hundred and fifty Lakotas, their wives and friends, forgot life's cares and rolled around Tenspirocheroan hall in a gay jamboree, Monday night, making the club's 1921 Halloween and "have" times the most successful one ever held.

It was a grand jubilee with the entire turn-out taking part enthusiastically and enjoying themselves like a bunch of school "kids." Grotesquely garbed in rags and tatters, the guests romped and played with a spirit never before shown at such a club joyfest. The hall was decorated with corn stalks, oak leaves and balled hay with the light of a golden moon casting a glow over the setting. A large oak tree stood in the middle of the hall. Miss Nina Moore and Glen Chase were winners of the live goose given away as a feature of the novel program arranged by Dr. Irving Clark and his committee. Phelps Lee, George Sorenson, Stark Cullen and Harold Schwartz were among the toughest and roughest looking individuals in the hall.

Apples were plentiful and cider was on tap throughout the evening with a buffet lunch consisting of doughnuts, pumpkin pie and coffee served at 11:30.

The Thomas Hill orchestra of Madison with five pieces scored a hit with the dancers.

At the Theatres

Beautifully staged, "The Affairs of Anatol," heralded as Cecil B. DeMille's greatest production, played to a packed house at the Apollo theatre Monday night, and will continue for more days.

Featuring 12 stars of the movie world, the tale is carried with remarkable photography. The story is a series of incidents in the martial affairs of a wealthy New Yorker.

The comment was general among Monday's audience that the vaudeville was good, funny and dancing lead in an extremely funny act entitled, "At the Race Track." Walmsley keeps the pace in constant Leonard and Germaine open the bill with clever eccentric dancing, but the jazz dance by the woman member in striped attire fails to meet approval.

Garland and Smith perform a series of acrobatic stunts.

Owing to redecoration, the public library will be closed the balance of the week except for the receiving of books. The usual hours will be out from 10 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. It is possible the building may re-open Saturday.

Blaine Urges Peace Effort for Nov. 11

Madison.—Armistice Day, Nov. 11, is proclaimed by Governor Blaine Tuesday as a "fitting time during which all of the people of the state will turn their minds and pledge their efforts to carry out the purposes set forth by the disarmament conference."

"Cooperation in helping to arouse the national aspirations of the people to achieve peace is highly to be desired," the governor says.

"Three years ago, on the 11th day of this month, the world's greatest war and catastrophe was brought to a close," the proclamation states. "It is that conflict the loss of young manhood was appalling. The burdens resulting from the World War bear heavily on the civilization of this world, particularly in the nations of the world."

"A conference on the limitation of armaments will convene this month in Washington and there will be brought together, representatives from the nations of the world. This conference is a challenge to the citizens of America, and marks a turning point in world history. It is possible that this conference will depend entirely upon the attitude of the people toward disarmament."

Friday, Nov. 11, by common consent, will be a holiday throughout the nation. On that day it will be proper and fitting for the people of our state, so far as practical, to engage in special service, and to hold public exercises in the several communities and schools, to venerate the memory of those who died in the World War in the sacred cause of world peace, and on that day dedicate the services of the people of this state to the achievement of international justice and peace, and to the attainment of permanent peace."

WOMEN JURORS ARE LAUDED BY GRIMM

Excellent Service Given by Four Drawn on Jefferson
Jury.

Service by four Jefferson county women jurors was declared to be "very excellent," by Judge George Grimm in Janesville today.

The women serving on our juries in the recent Jefferson term gave excellent satisfaction," states the judge. "They were the equal of the men in their judgment of court matters and their attention was perfect."

Mrs. Florence James, wife of W. D. James, was made foreman of the jury trying the case of the man in the hat. She is the first jury forewoman in Wisconsin in a circuit court case. She met the full accompaniment of the position.

There were 11 women drawn on the jury and seven were excused. The spirit of equality of the men and women on the jury was wonderful and we feel along fine in our cases. The women found it hard work in the long cases but were willing workers to gain the knowledge and experience of court matters."

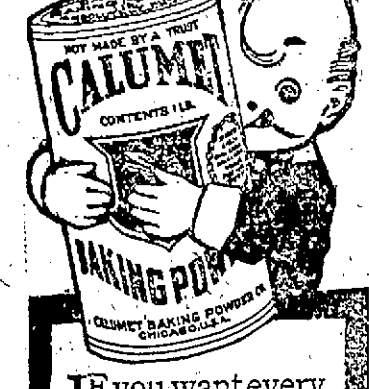

So pleased was Judge Grimm with the service of women on juries it is expected that the number on future jury panels will be materially increased.

67 Cases at Monroe
Judge Grimm opened the Green county term Monday afternoon in Monroe. There are 67 cases on the calendar. 35 criminal actions, 21 civil for the jury and 11 cases for the court. Charles M. Pierce, Janesville, has been appointed special district attorney for the prosecution of the criminal cases.

There will have to be speedy work in the Green county term to complete the important cases in time for the opening of the Rock county term here November 15. There will be a vigorous attempt at settlement in many civil actions.

Milton Joins in Memorial for Daland

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Milton—Alumni from all parts of Wisconsin and neighboring states united with Milton students and residents of the twin villages in paying tribute to the late Dr. William C. Daland, president of Milton college, at memorial services Saturday night in the college gymnasium. The list of visiting alumni included many former students of Dr. Daland who since have won prominence in the business and professional world.

The principal address was given by Dr. Edwin H. Lewis, dean of Lewis institute, Chicago. Dr. L. A. Flatts, '03, Chicago, spoke on behalf of the Alumni Association, and Dr. A. L. Burdick, Milton, represented the college board of trustees. Other speakers were A. E. Carey, '14, Janesville attorney; the Rev. Edgar D. Van Horn, '02, Milton Junction; Miss Dorothy G. Maxson, '22, Milton; Clark Siedhoff, '16, Battle Creek, Mich.; R. A. Bell, principal of Milton high school; F. T. Olson, local banker; Miss Ruth Babcock, '22.

Milton, and Prof. D. N. Inglis, '05, Milton.

A combined chorus of Glee club and Treble Clef members, directed by Prof. L. M. Stinger, sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," and "Benedicite Anima Mea," two anthems composed by Dr. Daland. The invocation was offered by the Rev. S. A. Sheard, pastor of the Methodist church. The Rev. P. H. Burdick, pastor of the Congregational church, delivered the benediction, which was preceded by "Our Colors," sung by the entire audience and the chorus. The words of this song were written by Dr. Daland.

Prof. Alfred E. Whitford, acting president, had charge of the program.

"The Love Pendulum"

By MARION RUBINMAN

CHAPTER LXIII.

But there are some things one cannot grow used to, and I think loneliness is the first of these. I had the ability to get along by myself. I did depend too much upon Winthrop.

That was the first discovery about myself. During the first weeks of my separation from Win I found out many things like that. And I tried to overcome the faults in myself that I knew would cause me unhappiness. But it was hard to do.

And I would not have succeeded even as well as I did if it had not been for Colin and his constant help. "I simply don't know what to do with myself," I told him one day. "I have dropped out of that old set of people as much as possible, and I'm not sorry. But it leaves so many hours—nothing to do but sit here and think."

"And what is the result of all these hours of thinking?" Colin asked, a little smile on his face.

"No result," I answered. "I feel so lonely all alone. I don't belong any where anymore."

"That's nonsense," Colin interrupted sympathetically. "It's true. Before, I belonged to a crowd of girls at school, then to my aunt's set. I didn't like them, but they were the only people I knew. Then I went to Wells-ville, and I adored the people there. When I came back to the city, I went again into the old crowd, and while I did not like them particularly, and did not like all the silly things we did, at least I had Win along and it was fun to watch him enjoy it all so."

I stopped, then added after a moment.

"That is, until Gwen came."

"But you were always complaining that these people bored you."

"They did," I answered. "I seemed to me to see so much money wasted when it might have been put to good use; to see so much time wasted when they might have done something worth while with it."

"Now you have all the time you want, what worthwhile thing are you doing with it?" Colin asked.

I stopped a long time. I could not answer. "What had I done? I only sat still and worried."

Colin, standing against the window frame, looked at me with a little smile, half humorous, half serious. "I think you've got a lecture, and not coincidentally, Connie," he said finally.

"I know how much you did care for Winthrop, and still do. But I found it impossible to live with him, just as you've found it impossible to live with me. You found the people you and he went with impossible and tiresome."

"Poor little fish out of water," Colin said, his kindly eyes still on me. "I know how you feel. But I think it's time for you to stop feeling sorry for yourself and get to work. You have never been taught to do anything—all right, teach yourself. How about your music? You play something with that talent. You have a genius for domestic things, taking care of houses and children, do something with that. I'll give you a woman to run a home as well as you do."

When Colin left I was more despairing than ever. I knew what he said was true—but I did not want to do it. I wanted to cry at the thought of a lonely dinner and a lonely bed, and I wanted to hear from Win. I knew I would not. I wanted to see people and to be with them. I wanted to be with Win. I was in a terrible state.

Today's Short Story

By GEORGE T. BYE

Illustrations by ARLENE COYLE

She Bought His Clothes

If antiquity would reveal that girls in knighthood's flowering days carried a smothering love for a knight, a purple doublet with yellow slashes that sat some-what sickly under a corset hat with a mauve plume—well, it would be a comfort to know that we are the most foolish of all creatures and times—that we cannot even dress ourselves without worrying whether they will approve our appearance!

Phelps Cushing, being but recently out of the parental nest, took this domination as codding. He blushed at the back of his neck whenever he thought of the acute interest of Dorothy Chase in his attire. Before they were engaged to be married, she would frown at a pair of socks he happened to be wearing, or stand on a few feet with connoisseur's eye and conclude: "I don't believe a light blue goes well with gray trousers. You need a dash of color, red or blue, something rich and there—but he waited."

Before they were engaged she led him to the window display of a downtown department store where was a "new arrival" of shirts of a pattern and color that she wanted to see on him. She went inside with him and while he chortled softly to himself, she examined the cloth and asked if it washed well. Phelps told the clerk he would take half a dozen. "Six?" shrieked Dorothy against. "One," she snarled. "You'd get sick and cured, while in other cases the patient never completely recovers. Your friend needs to have her thoughts directed through more hopeful and healthy channels. I would advise you to read books about mental healing, and to see if you can get ideas from them which would help you to encourage your friend. If her mind is affected you might be able to help her by spending a great deal of time with her, giving her the companionship of a normal person."

Girls looked at him.

way into Phelps' wardrobe, and he was under sentence of love to wear them and nothing else.

These hats were either too small, too large, too low or too high. Phelps had two fights with old friends the first week. One mistook him for Little Lord Fauntleroy, the other for the Lord High Executioner. Girls looked at him, and he had turned down for Dorothy. But he kept his pledge.

Well, they are married. They are just coming from the church. Dorothy, in the excitement, is meeting in his arms. "Darling, you've been too sweet to wear those funny hats," she gurgles. "Tomorrow we must get you some nice ones." You see, until you were married it just had to be you, unattractive on the street—to protect you from flirting girls. Oh, yes, it was intentional. Sweetie, don't turn your head away. Is you cross with your shining brand new wife?

Dinner Stories

"I wish you would send someone else to talk with this man about this," said the head salesman to the president.

"What's the idea?" This is an important matter and you are supposed to take care of it.

"I know, but it will be terribly embarrassing to water down of this. You see this man is the former husband of my present wife."

"The Germans," said Marshall Field at a Chicago luncheon, "are a naive people. They think naively that they can sign a treaty and then dodge out of its stipulations somehow, and everything will be all right."

The Germans remind me of little Emma.

"Emma," her mother said, "did you peel your apple, as I told you to, before eating it?"

"Yes, mamma," said little Emma.

"And what did you do with the peeling?"

"Why," said little Emma, "I ate it of course."

This is the diary of a young college man:

Back to college again with a fine record behind me. With twelve dances, seven tops, several theaters and a long line of broken hearts. It was a great vacation and I feel that I have done myself and the college justice.

I've failed miserably. Saw Reginald Van Winslow, and his record beats mine. He managed to get in three more dances and one of his girls has followed him down here—says she won't leave him. Mine only wept at my departure. After all, it was a rotten vacation.

TAPIoca RECIPES

Tapioca is one of our most useful desserts. That is to say, it is very easily prepared and has a good deal of food value, and at the same time is usually very well liked.

Be sure to cook the tapioca sufficiently to remove any floury or starchy flavor. In the modern tapioca that is not difficult, and if you follow the directions for the time needed to cook a new brand of tapioca given in the box you will come out right.

Here are some tapioca delicacies worth trying:

Tapioca Lemon Pie—Soak two tablespoons of tapioca in a pint of cold water for as long as the box directions call for—perhaps overnight, perhaps only an hour. Then add a cup of sugar and the grated rind and strained juice of a large lemon. Beat one egg thoroughly without separating and stir this in. Pour into a pie plate lined with pie crust and bake with a top crust. Top the crust with whipped cream before serving.

Tapioca Jelly—Soak half a cup of tapioca in a pint of cold water. Add another pint of cold water. Cook in a double boiler until soft and then add a cup of sugar and the grated rind and juice of a lemon. When transparent turn into a mould and let it harden. Serve with cream, whipped or unwhipped.

—delicate in flavor, nutritious—
once you've tried it you'll wonder how any woman ever keeps house without it.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

Poodle, Kate, Reader—Freckles may be bleached off, but the tendency to them will remain. The best way to get rid of the blood which is brought out on the skin by the sun, however this only happens about one-third of the year during the time when the sun is the strongest, and will bleach off themselves, but to hasten this at this time of the year, a skin bleach is either lemon juice or cucumber juice. The former is good, just as it is, squeezed from the fruit. The cucumber juice is made by cutting the vegetable into small pieces, retaining the skin, and squeezing out the juice. The juices are extracted from it. Start the cooking with a small amount of water added to the vegetable and when all of it is gone, add a pint of water for a length of time, a preservative must be added, such as alcohol or a small quantity of acetic acid.

Dr. J. F. Hines, Sub-Editor—If the general health is good and the scalp shows a tendency to extreme oiliness, or if it is dry, it shows that the scalp is local and may be corrected often by encouraging a better circulation. In either case, massage the scalp thoroughly once every day, until the whole head glows. Sometimes the hair has a tendency to fall out in the tail because of the scalp having been overworked during the previous months. Massage the crown of the head in ordinary cases, but a good tonic for the scalp should be used in addition to this, managing it such cases do not improve after a few months of the simpler treatment.

Double Chin—The woman with a double chin is usually too stout all over, and needs a general reduction, but a good local treatment is to massage the chin also. Throw back the head, tilting the chin and iron off the extra fat by using the palm of the hand, beginning at the collar bone and work forward to the point of the chin. This rubs all the muscles of the face and prevents any sagging and also gives some exercise to all of the lower part of the cheeks, which will be very much in need of being toned after they have been carrying this using an astrigent or giving the skin the exhalation of an ice rub. This hardens the skin and contracts the pores; otherwise the skin would be baggy after the fat had been absorbed.

Brown Eyes—Substitute whole wheat or Graham bread for that from white flour and curtail the amount of all that is needed when the person is only about 10 pounds overweight. If you feel that you require more information about choice of food and quantity, send a stamped addressed envelope for this.

Miss J. B. S. Mrs. J. A. H.—Deep breathing is helpful when the bust is too small or when it is too stout, as it develops all the muscles of the chest, which means an absorption of excessive fatty tissue. While the muscles are strengthened, for the thin woman a gentle massage with cream butter or any good skin food will be an added nourishment, but in either case a beneficial result will come from dashing cold water over the chest every day, followed by light friction with a coarse towel.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think a 16-year-old girl is too young to go to picture shows and machine riding with a boy of 17? The girl who lives next door is 16 and has never gone out with boys. I wonder if it would be all right to ask her to go with me? A few nights ago I told her I was machine riding and wanted to put my arm around her, but she wouldn't let me. I asked her why, and she said because it was improper. I never let me do it. She is the first one to refuse. I didn't mean to do any harm.

TOM.

A 16-year-old girl is too young to go with boys to any extent. Her play time should be given to her girl friends, her evenings to study and her nights to sleep. I would suggest that you ask permission to call on your neighbor. When her parents become better acquainted with you they may permit her to go to the picture show with you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 15 and very large for my age. When people ask my age they doubt the truth. Should I dress according to my age or size?

My father is continually slurring me when guests are here and he has no cause to. What can I do to have him stop this habit? I never let out a night without my mother. Father does not care for me at all. How can I win him?

L. G.

I think you should dress according to your size, but aim to get as youthful things as possible. You probably feel self-conscious now because you look old for your age. In a few years, however, you will not notice it so much because now that you have developed you will look about the same for a good many years.

Probably your father is trying to be funny when he "slurs" you. We down in his house he loves you although he does not show his affection by kindness. Try to love him and to please him. Through kindness and in no other way can you win his affection.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 19 and have been going with a young man who has given me a ring to wear. We broke up some time ago and he has not asked me for the ring and I have not seen him since the quarrel we had.

Please advise me what to do with the ring. I don't know his address. Would it be all right to pawn the ring?

Do away with back breaking rubbing—even in hard water.

FOR ordinarily soft water a half package of Rinso to a tub makes a rich lather. For harder water increase the amount until you get a rich, lasting suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Where water is extremely hard it may be necessary to dissolve a full package or more to a tub.

Dissolve the amount of Rinso you have found right for the water you use in two quarts of boiling water. Pour this solution into your tub of lukewarm water—stir well.

Put in your clothes and let them soak, one hour, two hours, overnight—whatever time is convenient. Rinse, to remove the loosened dirt, till the water runs clear.

No other soap product or softener is needed with Rinso, even in the hardest water. In hard water just use more Rinso.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone

Milton Union Here Wednesday for 2 Games with Blues

UNION IMPROVED SINCE JANESVILLE TOOK FIRST GAME

With a victory of 27 to 6 already tucked away in their record books, Janesville high school's climbing gridiron squad plays the second game of the season with Milton Union here at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. The game will be preceded by a clash between the light teams of both institutions.

Although the Blues had an easy time defeating Union in the earlier game, it is not likely that they will

HOMECOMING? SURE WE'LL HAVE ONE

Homecoming for the Janesville high school at the time of the Belmont game here Nov. 19 is growing in interest. Mr. Root, after advocating it for some time, has decided to have the present cheerleader. It reads: Sporting Editor, Gazette.

Dear Sir: After reading about our victory over Monroe, my eye happened to see the article in the Gazette regarding the homecoming. I must say that I am sure that a great number of old J. H. S. fellows would come back to see us whip Belmont and we are going to show them a front game. Belmont seems to have had a better time here to watch us but we'll tell 'em the signals and beat 'em.

Those eleven men on the field will eat up anything and they appreciate the way the people of the town are backing them.

So let's let them express themselves in "Homecoming" and that old J. H. S. team sure will hand out the bacon.

"Whaddya say?" Janesville?
Yours till we beat Belmont.

have such a snap when the battle takes place Wednesday. Union has improved considerably since the previous contest and promises better competition.

For a time the local squad looked upon Wednesday's game as practice, but they have changed their view during the past two weeks. The Janesville team will meet Milton on the same basis that it has all other teams and is preparing equally as hard.

From the advance side of tickets, a great crowd will watch the game. Squads have been out Monday and Tuesday disposing of the carboards among the student body and in the business districts.
